TESTIFIES RAIL MERGER WILL AID FARMERS

W. P. KENNEDY, G. N. VICE-PRESIDENT, ON STAND TODAY

IS WITNESS AT INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION HEARING

CAREFULLY PREPARED STATEMENT WITH EXHIBITS IS PRESENTED

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 24—(UP)—Unification of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads is essential to the agricultural development of the northwest, W. P. Kennedy, vice-president of the Great Northern, testified today at the interstate commerce commission hearing.

Kenney was the first witness to be heard by the commission on the application of the Great Northern Pacific corporation to lease the properties of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroads, and to acquire control of the stock of the two Northerns.

A carefully prepared statement with exhibits showing the traffic conditions of the Great Northern was presented by Kenney. He estimated that the increased population in the northwest states, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Washington would be increased by 2,410,000 in Great Northern territory through the proper expansion of the undeveloped agricultural resources.

The greatest array of legal talent of the country and some of the most active railroad leaders in the nation were represented when the hearing opened.

Lawyers, shippers, businessmen and railroad executives from Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., to New York were in attendance. More than 200 delegates were present at the opening session.

The number of interveners in the case will amount to more than 35, including railroads, commissions, business concerns, commercial, civic and traffic organizations of city and county governments.

WOMAN UNDER DEATH SENTENCE UNCOMMUNICATIVE

Chicago, Oct. 24. — (UP)—Mrs. Catherine Cassler, sentenced to die here Friday on a murder charge "just isn't interested in the case," she told newspapermen.

While Mrs. Cassler's attorneys prepared to fight for an appeal from her sentence, the woman remained impassive in the county jail. She declared she wasn't thinking about the case at all. She had no comment to make on the statement of Loren Patrick absolving her from the murder.

Patrick was sentenced to life imprisonment and Mrs. Cassler to death for the murder of William Lindstrom. Patrick at first accused Mrs. Cassler of the actual murder but Saturday repudiated his statements and took full responsibility for the crime.

Mrs. Cassler was to have been hanged last Friday but was granted a stay of execution for a week. An appeal for another stay will be made to Judge Phillip Sullivan to prepare an appeal to the supreme court.

It is believed Patrick's statement will be used as argument for a new trial if Judge Sullivan grants the stay.

MILES POINDEXTER TO BE CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Miles Poindexter, U. S. ambassador to Peru, told the United Press he will resign his diplomatic post next spring to become a candidate for nomination to the United States senate on the republican ticket.

Poindexter left today for Washington, D. C., and will go from there to Peru, he said.

Poindexter served in the senate from 1911 to 1923. He introduced the bil lto exclude Japanese from the United States.

"I will leave Monday for Peru and will return early in the spring to carry on my campaign to regain the senate seat," Poindexter said. "My policy will be in accordance with the Coolidge administration in the main. I will also pledge myself to uphold the prohibition law."

CAREFUL HOUSEWIFE FORGOT ABOUT HER BREAD KNIFE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Eleanor Holby, 27, forgot about the bread knife in her hand when her husband Joseph hugged her, until she saw it sticking out of his breast, she told police.

When arrested in connection with her husband's murder, Mrs. Holby explained that "Joe" had slapped her in the face, after having a few drinks. Then he repented and said, "Let's kiss and make up."

He gave her a manly hug.

"Go away and let me do the cooking," she implored, as he continued to hang with his arms about her neck.

Then she pushed him. Holby fell backward, and his wife saw the handle of the long, sharp bread knife protruding from his breast.

MOVEMENT FOR NEW NATIONAL PARTY STARTED

PRIME MOVER IS VICTOR L. BERGER, HEAD OF THE SOCIALISTS

HE HAS LONG SERVED IN CONGRESS UNDER SOCIALIST BANNER

New York, Oct. 24.—(UP) — A movement for establishment of a new national party—the first since the LaFollette group disbanded after the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette's defeat in the 1924 presidential campaign—has been started by Victor L. Berger, newly chosen head of the socialist party.

He has long served in congress under the socialist banner—the lone representative of that party.

"The nation needs a new party," said Berger, "and needs it badly. The two old parties are now one. There is nothing to distinguish one from the other. For democracy to survive, it is necessary to have a big, strong opposition party founded upon principle."

Although he indicated the designation of the insurgent party was immaterial, there can be little doubt that Berger thinks it may be identified with the socialist party. He believes socialism in the United States is riding upon the upward turn of the wheel. He has many economic facts and statistics to cite to show that the new large-scale industrialism, plus the very cessation of immigration he has opposed, means impending wholesale conversions to socialism.

He is as proud of his party and has as sincere a belief in its future as he had that day 33 years ago when the great Pullman strike was on in Chicago and Berger, the young editor of a socialist German daily paper in Milwaukee, met and made a socialist of Eugene Debs.

There is a familiar joke among political cynics about the socialists: "You've got everything you fought for. The old parties stole it from you bit by bit and adopted it. Why don't you disband?"

That was put before Berger.

"The socialists have been responsible for much that is now accepted as matter-of-fact commonplace," he said.

"The initiative and referendum was considered sheer anarchy forty years ago.

"We have initiated many ballot box reforms, safe-guarding voting. In Milwaukee we first introduced the voting machines.

"We have obtained legislation for old age pensions and the principle is now recognized in six states.

"We fought for state workmen's compensation laws for injuries, for the recognized need of more parks, playgrounds and cultural opportunities for the masses; for municipal ownership of street car systems, water works and other public utilities; for free hospitals and free medical service.

"Usually after years of propaganda, one of the old parties would take up the issue and make a great hullabaloo of it.

"But we have hardly begun our work. We are patient. We socialists want no revolution. We want all progress to come in an orderly way.

"You ask whether the socialist party has finished its work. In answer I say, when labor has been emancipated and the co-operative commonwealth ushered in and established in place of our present capitalist anarchy and strife, and its concommitant evils such as poverty and war—then and only then will the socialist party have fulfilled its mission."

FRENCH TROOPS MOVE AGAINST MOORISH REBELS

AIM TO RESCUE FOUR RELATIVES AND FRIENDS OF THEODORE STEEG

LATTER IS FRENCH RESIDENT GENERAL IN MOROCCO

Casablanca, Morocco, Oct. 24. — (UP) — French troops, proceeding with difficulty because of heavy rains, were moving simultaneously with diplomatic emissaries today to rescue four relatives and friends of Theodore Steeg, French resident general in Morocco, from Moorish rebels holding them for ransom.

Natives said the four Europeans—Yves Steeg, nephew of the resident general; Jean Maillet, Baroness Steinheil and Mme. A. Koroff—were in no danger of rough treatment.

But remembering the recent murder of M. and Mlle. Arnaud and the kidnaping of their two daughters, French authorities were worried.

At best the four latest victims of the fierce rebel tribes were at the mercy of their captors, for the entire country where they are held is in absolute control of unfriendly, rebellious tribes.

Because of the mountainous country, it was feared today that rescue by force would be difficult—a major military operation in weather that makes troop movements almost impossible.

Therefore greatest hope was centered in ransoming the captives, and friendly native envoys have gone to find the sum sought by the kidnapers.

It was expected to be high. So great were the rebels' demands in connection with the release of the Arnaud girls that negotiations were suspended temporarily last week.

It is believed the Steeg party was in the hands of Said Bengrada, a mountain chief with headquarters in the Idermann region.

Native versions of the kidnaping were that the body of Yves Steeg was found near his deserted automobile, but it was indicated now that he, too, is alive and a prisoner.

A brother-in-law of Mme. Koroff gave the first authentic version.

"When my sister-in-law and her companions failed to return at nightfall from an automobile tour," he said. "I went to hunt for them with three trusted natives.

"Passing Marabout De Sidi we met a dozen rebel tribesmen. We scattered them with our rifles. But the sound of firing put the rest of their tribe on the alert and we were obliged to flee, giving our horses their bridles.

"From a farmhouse at which we took refuge, we sent a messenger back to the French lines. Just as the messenger left, Maillet's dog, badly wounded, dragged himself to the door.

"We did not need to guess what had happened. We started out without waiting for reinforcements.

"Arabs told us that the party's abandoned car stood in the forest nearby. We soon arrived, and found traces of a violent struggle."

The story of the struggle was told with mute clarity by cartridge shells, pearls from a necklace, and hairpins scattered about the scene.

JAPAN'S ONLY DIRIGIBLE PREY TO FIRE SUNDAY

Tokio, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Japan's only dirigible, the N-3, a sister-craft of the famous Norge, was destroyed by flames yesterday.

One of the crew of seven was injured.

The naval ministry has informed the United Press that the craft left Kasumigaura flying field Saturday afternoon for naval maneuvers off Kozu island, and proceeded to Nachi Joshima, one of the Bonins group of islands, where it encountered a terrific storm, which continued throughout the night.

Early yesterday, Commander Lieutenant Fujioshi decided to land on the shore of Komiushima. After descending the dirigible broke its moorings and blew out to sea, bouncing along the tops of the waves. It finally exploded and sank.

The crew was saved by leaving the blazing craft. After landing on shore, one petty officer fell down a cliff and was injured.

The N-3 was sold to Japan by Italy and assembled at Tokio. Under the direction of Umberto Nobile, it made a successful trial flight on April 6.

ELEVEN PROMINENT CHILEANS DEPORTED

REPORTED 10 HAD PARTICIPATED IN PLOT AGAINST CHILEAN GOVERNMENT

Buenos Aires, Oct. 24. — (UP) — Private advices from Chile today said 11 prominent Chileans had been deported, ten of them for participation in a plot against the government.

Those deported on charges of plotting are former President Alessandri and his three sons; former Foreign Ministers Jorge Matte, Ernesto Barrosjarpa, Luis Izquierdo, Gallardo, and Gustavo Lira; Cornelio Saavedra and Guillermo La Barca.

Luis Alberto Cariola, director of the newspaper, Diario Ilustrado, is said to have been deported because of an editorial in his paper in connection with the army's failure to participate in the feast day celebration of "Our Lady of Carmen," the patron saint of the army.

The alleged plotters were declared to have discussed their plans at a dinner given by the Argentine ambassador Malbran to former Vice-President Villaneueva of Argentina during the latter's visit to Santiago.

It is reported, without confirmation, that Malbran is seeking a transfer from Santiago because of the incident.

Mendoza, Argentina, Oct. 24. — Four deported Chileans arrived here from Santiago late last night.

They are the former President Alessandri, the former Foreign Minister Ernesto Barrosjarpo; the director of the newspaper Diario Ilustrado, Louis Cariola and Ramon Vicuna.

They are en route to Buenos Aires.

WILL NOT ASK INCREASE IN DRY ENFORCEMENT FUND

Washington, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Assistant Secretary of Treasury Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced today he will not ask congress to increase for the fiscal year 1928-29 the present size of dry enforcement appropriations—$13,000,000.

This was taken to mean that if congress wishes any extension of prohibition activities, it will have to initiate the movement.

Incidentally Lowman announced plans for an air patrol to be created from airplanes seized from runners.

PICKETS WERE LED BY WOMAN OF DELAGUA

STOP 700 MINERS FROM GOING TO WORK INTO PITS

TWO GUARDS PUSHED INTO A CREEK, NEITHER INJURED

Ludlow, Colo., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Two mine guards were pushed into a creek and 28 men and seven women I. W. W. pickets were arrested near here today, marking the first violence in the Colorado coal strike called a week ago.

The pickets, led by Mrs. R. E. Bernash, 48, of Delagua, had left a meeting here called for 5 A. M. and were en route toward the Berwind Canon mines when guards stopped them on a highway bridge.

When one of the guards told Mrs. Bernash she was under arrest, she shouted:

"You can't arrest us without a warrant. Come on, men!"

The pickets surged forward and succeeded in reaching the mine property where by their activities they stopped 700 miners from going down into the pits.

The two guards were pushed into the creek when they sought to stem the pickets' advance. Neither was injured.

Ludlow, Colo., Oct. 24.—Huerfano and Las Animas county authorities prepared for a crisis in Colorado's coal strike situation today.

Strikers gathered for a mass meeting here at 5 A. M. at the monument erected to miners killed in the famous "Ludlow massacre" of 1914.

Increased zeal of the I. W. W. members and other strikers displayed at a similar mass meeting here late yesterday led authorities to believe the strikers will attempt to prevent any miner from working today. If such an attempt were successful operators would be forced to close all mines in both counties.

Coal operators in the Walsenburg district announced plans to urge their men to defy picketers and go to work under armed escort.

More than 800 persons attended yesterday's mass meeting. About a third of them were women and children.

21 PERSONS LOST THEIR LIVES IN FIRE AT MOVIE THEATRE

Helsingfors, Finland, Oct. 24.—(UP) — Twenty-one persons were burned to death or suffocated in a fire at a moving picture theatre at Tammerfors last night.

A film in the operating booth caught fire. Patrons, warned to leave, rushed for the exits to find them jammed by a big crowd waiting to get into the next show.

A free-for-all fist fight began outside the exits between leaders of the panic-stricken audience and those waiting to get in. Firemen were forced to use hoses to disperse the fighters.

2 PRISONERS ESCAPE, 2 CRITICALLY HURT IN JAIL BREAK

Orville King, alleged auto thief, and Jack Wilson, alleged hijacker, were shot down by officers as they attempted to crawl down a blanket ladder from the third floor of the jail.

King, shot below the heart, and Wilson wounded in the abdomen, were taken to a Moldenville hospital.

Earl Mack and a prisoner giving his name as Jack Wilson escaped.

OUR DAILY QUAKE REPORT— SEISMOGRAPH RECORD

New York, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—A severe earthquake, probably 3,278 miles southwest of New York, was recorded on the seismograph at Fordham university today.

The Rev. John Tynan, S. J., director of the seismograph, said it was one of the most violent upheavals ever recorded here.

The disturbance was recorded also in seismographs at Denver and Cleveland, Father Tynan said he had been advised.

The disturbance lasted nearly two hours, Father Tynan said.

It began at 10:07 a. m. and reached its maximum at 10:23, continuing until almost noon.

SAY FARMING KEEPING STEP WITH BUSINESS

AMERICAN BANKERS ASSOCIATION MEETING AT HOUSTON, TEXAS

"FINANCES OF COUNTRY NEVER ON SOUNDER BASIS," SAYS T. R. PRESTON

Houston, Texas, Oct. 24.—(UP)—A higher level of business, partially, because agriculture had caught step with industry, was seen here today by bankers from various sections of the country who had gathered for the annual convention of the American Bankers Association.

While only the vanguard of bankers had reached Houston early today, special trains, carrying 103 chartered Pullmans, were arriving intermittently. Committee meetings will be held today and the business sessions of the convention will open Tuesday.

"The finances of the country were never on a sounder basis," T. R. Preston, vice president of the American Bankers Association and president of the Hamilton National Bank at Chattanooga, Tenn., told the United Press. "While the volume of business for the past year may not have been so large as that of 1926, still more people have shared in the prosperity of the country, particularly the agricultural sections."

"Improved credit facilities for the farmer and the resultant improved condition will probably cause increased business," W. R. Morehouse, of the Security Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles said. "This has sustained a condition of national prosperity prevalent for several years."

A satisfactory condition of business during the past year was noted by M. A. Traylor, president of the association and president of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. This condition has existed, although the upward trend of the past two years was not continued, Traylor said.

"Large harvests in certain sections and higher prices in others has resulted in a satisfactory condition," he said. "The income in the agricultural sections will be somewhat above that of last year. The income of agriculture will about equal that of industry."

"For perhaps the first time since 1920, agriculture has caught step with industry," John R. Downing of the Citizens National Bank of Louisville, Ky., said. "Business will continue forward if, and as long as, this pace can be maintained."

2 PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH IN CRASH OF AIRPLANES

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Two persons were burned to death in an airplane crash into Memorial Park cemetery, Lincoln, late Sunday, after the plane went into a sideslip as they started an attempted landing.

Carl Karr, Lincoln, and Don Sease, Clark, S. D., were the victims. They had left Wahoo just before dark.

Sease, who was piloting the plane, was said to have had little experience as an aviator, being a student flier.

ON THIRD TRIP PLANE WAS IN AIR TEN HOURS

YESTERDAY FLIERS REACHED POINT NEAR SABLE ISLAND 500 MILES OUT

PLANE LIMPED BACK HOME ON AN ENGINE AND A HALF

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Balked by engine trouble and fog after her third take-off for Copenhagen, Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson was nevertheless hopeful today that she would be able to make her trans-Atlantic flight this season.

The great amphibian plane "The Dawn" carrying Mrs. Grayson, Pilot Milmer Stultz and Navigator Brice Goldsborough, landed safely on the beach here about 4:30 P. M. yesterday, after being in the air a little more than 10 hours.

In two previous starts, "The Dawn" had returned to the beach in less than 20 minutes, but yesterday the fliers reached a point near Sable Island, some 500 miles out, before they were forced to turn back. They estimated their total mileage at 984.

The eastward flight required only four and one half hours, but in limping home on an engine and a half, as Pilot Stultz expressed it, five and a half hours elapsed.

Examination today of the defective engine will determine whether a fourth attempt can be made this season.

A. C. Dickinson of Fitchburg, Mass., financial backer of the Sikorsky Manufacturing Company, which built the plane, was expected here today to confer with the crew of "The Dawn."

"I'll make it yet," exclaimed the determined and optimistic Mrs. Grayson following the third return of "The Dawn." She admitted she was greatly disappointed but said she still hoped to reach Denmark by air this season.

"We were sailing along beautifully, sending messages as we had planned," said Mrs. Grayson, in describing yesterday's flight. "The first we sent to President and Mrs. Coolidge, the second to the Queen of Denmark, and the third to Governor and Mrs. Brewster of Maine.

"About the time we were approaching Cape Sable, I sent another message to the people of Muncie, Ind., my home, telling them how happy I was that I was at last going to achieve my ambition.

"As we cleared Sable, and were at last headed straight for our goal, we heard our right motor skipping.

"We did our best to find the cause, but seemed to be unable to do so. We decided it would be foolhardy to continue on our way, although we were each secretly for keeping on."

When the motor went bad, the fliers feared at first they might be forced to land in the water. Goldsborough pulled the string that released 260 gallons of gasoline and radioed the Diamond liner Coahoma County, which the fliers had sighted previously, that "The Dawn might come down in the sea."

Stultz found, however, that he could keep the plane in the air. The nose was turned westward and the return flight was made without untoward incident.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 24.—(UP)—A broken valve stem was revealed today as the motor defect which yesterday forced the amphibian plane The Dawn to return here about ten hours after it had started for Copenhagen.

Only the fact that The Dawn has twin motors enabled Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and her two companions to fly back to Old Orchard after encountering engine trouble near Sable Island, 500 miles away.

Mrs. Grayson, who still hoped to fly to Denmark this season, was one of 30 persons gathered on the beach to watch the examination of the motor.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—James E. McGinley, 62, prominent lawyer, politician and one time member of the state legislature, jumped from his room in a hospital and was killed. He had been in ill health for several months.

WILL NOT ASK INCREASE IN DRY ENFORCEMENT FUND

Washington, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Assistant Secretary of Treasury Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced today he will not ask congress to increase for the fiscal year 1928-29 the present size of dry enforcement appropriations—$13,000,000.

This was taken to mean that if congress wishes any extension of prohibition activities, it will have to initiate the movement.

Incidentally Lowman announced plans for an air patrol to be created from airplanes seized from runners.

PICKETS WERE LED BY WOMAN OF DELAGUA

STOP 700 MINERS FROM GOING TO WORK INTO PITS

TWO GUARDS PUSHED INTO A CREEK, NEITHER INJURED

Ludlow, Colo., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Two mine guards were pushed into a creek and 28 men and seven women I. W. W. pickets were arrested near here today, marking the first violence in the Colorado coal strike called a week ago.

The pickets, led by Mrs. R. E. Bernash, 48, of Delagua, had left a meeting here called for 5 A. M. and were en route toward the Berwind Canon mines when guards stopped them on a highway bridge.

When one of the guards told Mrs. Bernash she was under arrest, she shouted:

"You can't arrest us without a warrant. Come on, men!"

The pickets surged forward and succeeded in reaching the mine property where by their activities they stopped 700 miners from going down into the pits.

The two guards were pushed into the creek when they sought to stem the pickets' advance. Neither was injured.

Ludlow, Colo., Oct. 24.—Huerfano and Las Animas county authorities prepared for a crisis in Colorado's coal strike situation today.

Strikers gathered for a mass meeting here at 5 A. M. at the monument erected to miners killed in the famous "Ludlow massacre" of 1914.

Increased zeal of the I. W. W. members and other strikers displayed at a similar mass meeting here late yesterday led authorities to believe the strikers will attempt to prevent any miner from working today. If such an attempt were successful operators would be forced to close all mines in both counties.

Coal operators in the Walsenburg district announced plans to urge their men to defy picketers and go to work under armed escort.

More than 800 persons attended yesterday's mass meeting. About a third of them were women and children.

21 PERSONS LOST THEIR LIVES IN FIRE AT MOVIE THEATRE

Helsingfors, Finland, Oct. 24.—(UP) — Twenty-one persons were burned to death or suffocated in a fire at a moving picture theatre at Tammerfors last night.

A film in the operating booth caught fire. Patrons, warned to leave, rushed for the exits to find them jammed by a big crowd waiting to get into the next show.

A free-for-all fist fight began outside the exits between leaders of the panic-stricken audience and those waiting to get in. Firemen were forced to use hoses to disperse the fighters.

2 PRISONERS ESCAPE, 2 CRITICALLY HURT IN JAIL BREAK

Orville King, alleged auto thief, and Jack Wilson, alleged hijacker, were shot down by officers as they attempted to crawl down a blanket ladder from the third floor of the jail.

King, shot below the heart, and Wilson wounded in the abdomen, were taken to a Holdenville hospital.

Earl Mack and a prisoner giving his name as Jack Wilson escaped.

OUR DAILY QUAKE REPORT— SEISMOGRAPH RECORD

New York, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—A severe earthquake, probably 3,278 miles southwest of New York, was recorded on the seismograph at Fordham university today.

The Rev. John Tynan, S. J., director of the seismograph, said it was one of the most violent upheavals ever recorded here.

The disturbance was recorded also in seismographs at Denver and Cleveland, Father Tynan said he had been advised.

The disturbance lasted nearly two hours, Father Tynan said.

It began at 10:07 a. m. and reached its maximum at 10:23, continuing until almost noon.

SAY FARMING KEEPING STEP WITH BUSINESS

"FINANCES OF COUNTRY NEVER ON SOUNDER BASIS," SAYS T. R. PRESTON

Houston, Texas, Oct. 24.—(UP)—A higher level of business, partially, because agriculture had caught step with industry, was seen here today by bankers from various sections of the country who had gathered for the annual convention of the American Bankers Association.

While only the vanguard of bankers had reached Houston early today, special trains, carrying 103 chartered Pullmans, were arriving intermittently. Committee meetings will be held today and the business sessions of the convention will open Tuesday.

"The finances of the country were never on a sounder basis," T. R. Preston, vice president of the American Bankers Association and president of the Hamilton National Bank at Chattanooga, Tenn., told the United Press. "While the volume of business for the past year may not have been so large as that of 1926, still more people have shared in the prosperity of the country, particularly the agricultural sections."

"Improved credit facilities for the farmer and the resultant improved condition will probably cause increased business," W. R. Morehouse, of the Security Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles said. "This has sustained a condition of national prosperity prevalent for several years."

A satisfactory condition of business during the past year was noted by M. A. Traylor, president of the association and president of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. This condition has existed, although the upward trend of the past two years was not continued, Traylor said.

"Large harvests in certain sections and higher prices in others has resulted in a satisfactory condition," he said. "The income in the agricultural sections will be somewhat above that of last year. The income of agriculture will about equal that of industry."

"For perhaps the first time since 1920, agriculture has caught step with industry," John R. Downing of the Citizens National Bank of Louisville, Ky., said. "Business will continue forward if, and as long as, this pace can be maintained."

2 PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH IN CRASH OF AIRPLANES

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Two persons were burned to death in an airplane crash into Memorial Park cemetery, Lincoln, late Sunday, after the plane went into a sideslip as they started an attempted landing.

Carl Karr, Lincoln, and Don Sease, Clark, S. D., were the victims. They had left Wahoo just before dark.

Sease, who was piloting the plane, was said to have had little experience as an aviator, being a student flier.

ON THIRD TRIP PLANE WAS IN AIR TEN HOURS

YESTERDAY FLIERS REACHED POINT NEAR SABLE ISLAND 500 MILES OUT

PLANE LIMPED BACK HOME ON AN ENGINE AND A HALF

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Balked by engine trouble and fog after her third take-off for Copenhagen, Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson was nevertheless hopeful today that she would be able to make her trans-Atlantic flight this season.

The great amphibian plane "The Dawn" carrying Mrs. Grayson, Pilot Milmer Stultz and Navigator Brice Goldsborough, landed safely on the beach here about 4:30 P. M. yesterday, after being in the air a little more than 10 hours.

In two previous starts, "The Dawn" had returned to the beach in less than 20 minutes, but yesterday the fliers reached a point near Sable Island, some 500 miles out, before they were forced to turn back. They estimated their total mileage at 984.

The eastward flight required only four and one half hours, but in limping home on an engine and a half, as Pilot Stultz expressed it, five and a half hours elapsed.

Examination today of the defective engine will determine whether a fourth attempt can be made this season.

A. C. Dickinson of Fitchburg, Mass., financial backer of the Sikorsky Manufacturing Company, which built the plane, was expected here today to confer with the crew of "The Dawn."

"I'll make it yet," exclaimed the determined and optimistic Mrs. Grayson following the third return of "The Dawn." She admitted she was greatly disappointed but said she still hoped to reach Denmark by air this season.

"We were sailing along beautifully, sending messages as we had planned," said Mrs. Grayson, in describing yesterday's flight. "The first we sent to President and Mrs. Coolidge, the second to the Queen of Denmark, and the third to Governor and Mrs. Brewster of Maine.

"About the time we were approaching Cape Sable, I sent another message to the people of Muncie, Ind., my home, telling them how happy I was that I was at last going to achieve my ambition.

"As we cleared Sable, and were at last headed straight for our goal, we heard our right motor skipping.

"We did our best to find the cause, but seemed to be unable to do so. We decided it would be foolhardy to continue on our way, although we were each secretly for keeping on."

When the motor went bad, the fliers feared at first they might be forced to land in the water. Goldsborough pulled the string that released 260 gallons of gasoline and radioed the Diamond liner Coahoma County, which the fliers had sighted previously, that "The Dawn might come down in the sea."

Stultz found, however, that he could keep the plane in the air. The nose was turned westward and the return flight was made without untoward incident.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 24.—(UP)—A broken valve stem was revealed today as the motor defect which yesterday forced the amphibian plane The Dawn to return here about ten hours after it had started for Copenhagen.

Only the fact that The Dawn has twin motors enabled Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and her two companions to fly back to Old Orchard after encountering engine trouble near Sable Island, 500 miles away.

Mrs. Grayson, who still hoped to fly to Denmark this season, was one of 30 persons gathered on the beach to watch the examination of the motor.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—James E. McGinley, 62, prominent lawyer, politician and one time member of the state legislature, jumped from his room in a hospital and was killed. He had been in ill health for several months.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"THE WORLD'S EIGHTH WONDER"

HARRY F. MICHAEL, formerly of Brainerd, a comparatively new member of the Glendale, Arizona, Rotary club, was the principal speaker at the club's weekly luncheon last Thursday. He is a former merchant, coming to the Salt River Valley and is now engaged in developing a citrus orchard at Seventh Avenue and the Arizona canal.

The Glendale News gives this account of his address, the topic being, "The Eighth Wonder of the World":

The speaker took as the basis of his address the seven wonders of the ancient world. He briefly described each one, telling something of the amount of human effort they required and stressed the fact that at the time of building each one, human slavery was dominant and that little progress was made by the world. He stated that while these required great human effort that they left very little of value to humanity and that all but one of these works, the pyramids of Egypt, had been destroyed and that the pyramids were slowly crumbling. In contrast to these efforts to satisfy human ambition he enumerated the seven wonders of the modern world. These, scientists accept, as wireless telegraphy, telephone, X-ray, spectrum analysis, antiseptics and antitoxins, radium and the flying machine. These have mostly been given to humanity during the last fifty years and, emphasized the speaker, every one is for the benefit of humanity. He then gave as the Eighth Wonder of the world, "The Spirit of Service." He described this as the greatest thing of our age and which is responsible for the marked progress of the world today. He referred to prediction of H. G. Wells, the novelist, that up to this time the world had been engrossed with material progress, but now it had realized that it had all if not more than humanity needed in inventions and discoveries, and that the next step was the development of humanity which had been neglected.

So, said the speaker, the world is ready for the program of Rotary—which is service to humanity.

Contrasting the personal ambitions of those of wealth in the past, he spoke of the Rockefeller foundation which has brought together the best of the world's scientists and put them to work to alleviate human suffering.

He spoke of the greatest of tasks that Rotary has attempted of better relationships between nations and the abolition of war by the international endeavor of Rotary. How forty countries have Rotary clubs of most representative business and professional men, who, in each country are advocating friendliness between nations and the settlement of difficulties as we settle difficulties between individuals.

He gave as Rotary's second great task the making of better business methods. Business, said the speaker, is necessary for human progress and business has advanced in proportion to its being conducted on a high moral plane. He said it was the duty Rotary members owed to humanity to lift the ideal of business.

In closing, the speaker said that his thought was epitomized in two sentences: 1st, that humble citizens of this democracy may and do accomplish more for humanity today through the spirit of service than did forceful monarchs of old. Second, that the efforts of mankind must be for the benefit of humanity if their works would endure.

AN EMBARRASSING MOMENT

THE Minneapolis Journal publishes a department offering prizes to the writers detailing their most embarrassing moment. Sunday "P. P." of Brainerd won first prize with this story, telling how she gave a perfect stranger an unintended caress:

"Recently I went to a motion picture show. As the sun had been shining brightly outside, I had some difficulty seeing in the theater as the picture was being shown when I arrived.

"I bent over while lowering a seat and my surprise can be imagined when my lips came in contact with something warm and smooth, which happened to be the bald head of a man in the seat in front of me. He turned around and said, 'Thanks, lady,' while everyone nearby giggled."

Speaking of bald head kissing, we know one lady whose special salutation of her husband was kissing his bald pate and she was "awfully put out" one day when she thought she would surprise him in company and she kissed the wrong cranium.

THE job of the wolf hunter continues in Minnesota. Wolf bounties are paid by the state and numerous claims are made in our county. Other parts of the state have the wolf pest too. Wolves are more numerous and troublesome in Golden Valley and Mud Lake districts near Holt, than for several years, farmers report.

ST. JAMES last week made a bid for the "Lutefisk Capital of the World." One ton of the succulent fish was prepared for a huge free dinner given on the same lavish scale as Springfield dispensed its free sauerkraut dinner. As we have often noted, the most expensive part of a lutefisk dinner is the butter gravy.

GEORGE PARKER, of Pembina, who has some home town fame as a weather forecaster, predicts we shall have a mild winter. He says it will be like the winter of 1877 when farmers in that vicinity plowed all the year around and the Red River never froze over.

THE Northern Pacific railway company is expending $300,000 in the construction of 24 additional water softening plans in western North Dakota and eastern Montana. Soft water is never as hard on a boiler as hard water.

THE new nurses home at St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the state, has been completed at a cost of half a million dollars. Three hundred nurses will be accommodated.

NEARLY 300 students of Minnesota colleges will assemble at Mankato November 18 to 20 for the annual convention of students connected with state college Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. organizations.

THE state of Minnesota will offer about 76,000,000 board feet of standing timber at a public sale on Monday, October 31.

THE annual convention of the South Dakota League of Women Voters will be held at Huron, S. D., November 1, 2 and 3.

F. L. MAYTAG

Announcing the NEW Maytag Aluminum Washer

WITH distinct pride and satisfaction I announce the introduction of the NEW Maytag—a washer that is a real tribute to Maytag ideals, traditions and accomplishments. It is a worthy successor to the Maytag Aluminum Washer that during the past few years won World Leadership.

This New Maytag is as far in advance of today as the Maytag Gyrafoam principle was ahead five years ago, and again identifies the Maytag with the most notable achievements in Washing Machine history.

I earnestly urge you to visit the nearest Maytag dealer at once and see this New Maytag, or take advantage of our trial plan and phone for a free washing in your own home. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

Sincerely,

F. L. Maytag

"THE WORLD'S EIGHTH WONDER"

HARRY F. MICHAEL, formerly of Brainerd, a comparatively new member of the Glendale, Arizona, Rotary club, was the principal speaker at the club's weekly luncheon last Thursday. He is a former merchant, coming to the Salt River Valley and is now engaged in developing a citrus orchard at Seventh Avenue and the Arizona canal.

The Glendale News gives this account of his address, the topic being, "The Eighth Wonder of the World":

The speaker took as the basis of his address the seven wonders of the ancient world. He briefly described each one, telling something of the amount of human effort they required and stressed the fact that at the time of building each one, human slavery was dominant and that little progress was made by the world. He stated that while these required great human effort that they left very little of value to humanity and that all but one of these works, the pyramids of Egypt, had been destroyed and that the pyramids were slowly crumbling. In contrast to these efforts to satisfy human ambition he enumerated the seven wonders of the modern world. These, scientists accept, as wireless telegraphy, telephone, X-ray, spectrum analysis, antiseptics and antitoxins, radium and the flying machine. These have mostly been given to humanity during the last fifty years and, emphasized the speaker, every one is for the benefit of humanity. He then gave as the Eighth Wonder of the world, "The Spirit of Service." He described this as the greatest thing of our age and which is responsible for the marked progress of the world today. He referred to prediction of H. G. Wells, the novelist, that up to this time the world had been engrossed with material progress, but now it had realized that it had all if not more than humanity needed in inventions and discoveries, and that the next step was the development of humanity which had been neglected.

So, said the speaker, the world is ready for the program of Rotary—which is service to humanity.

Contrasting the personal ambitions of those of wealth in the past, he spoke of the Rockefeller foundation which has brought together the best of the world's scientists and put them to work to alleviate human suffering.

He spoke of the greatest of tasks that Rotary has attempted of better relationships between nations and the abolition of war by the international endeavor of Rotary. How forty countries have Rotary clubs of most representative business and professional men, who, in each country are advocating friendliness between nations and the settlement of difficulties as we settle difficulties between individuals.

He gave as Rotary's second great task the making of better business methods. Business, said the speaker, is necessary for human progress and business has advanced in proportion to its being conducted on a high moral plane. He said it was the duty Rotary members owed to humanity to lift the ideal of business.

In closing, the speaker said that his thought was epitomized in two sentences: 1st, that humble citizens of this democracy may and do accomplish more for humanity today through the spirit of service than did forceful monarchs of old. Second, that the efforts of mankind must be for the benefit of humanity if their works would endure.

LINE CRASHES AND END RUNS NETS BRAINERD VICTORY

AITKIN DOWNED ON HOME FIELD 7 TO 0 BY LOCAL GRIDDERS

FULLER CARRIES BALL OVER FOR TOUCHDOWN NEAR CLOSE OF HALF

WISE AND WELLIVER HANDLE SUBSTITUTE POSITIONS WELL

In spite of injuries the Brainerd high school team came out victors in the clash Saturday afternoon with Aitkin by the score of 7 to 0 in the best game of the season.

The local team showed a decided improvement over its previous engagements this season while the Aitkin boys were at their topnotch speed but not fast enough to cope with the plays and line smashes of the local warriors.

Stevens, star halfback for Aitkin, 10 second man, was stopped. Frank Wise and Welliver, taking the place of Buscher and LaCourse, played in creditable fashion. LaCourse and Buscher will be in the line next Saturday when Brainerd meets Aitkin here. Little Falls has been gracious enough to ask that in view of the stiff drubbing they received at the hands of Brainerd, to cancel their engagement here. The Aitkin boys have been selected as able opposition for the Brainerd boys on the second and last home game.

Play by play follows:

First Quarter

Brainerd kicked off to Aitkin and the ball was returned 10 yards to the 30, yard line Brainerd failed to complete a pass on the first down but Stevens carried the ball on the second down for a beautiful run of 18 yards. Aitkin fails to gain in three tries and Brainerd received the punt. Fuller crashes through center for three yards and Hautala follows up with a four yard run around right end. Fourth down, Brainerd punts. Aitkin fails to make a gain in three tries and punts poorly. Hautala made an end run and Brainerd attempted a pass but failed to complete. Fuller hit the line for two yards and Brainerd punts to Aitkin on the 28 yard line. Aitkin tries three line plunges but fails to get anywhere and punts on the fourth down to Brainerd on the 40 yard line the ball being carried 20 yards. Brainerd makes ten yards on a trick play to Wise. Swanson made one yard, and Fuller ran six yards to complete play for the first quarter.

Second Quarter

Brainerd makes half a yard gain and Wise carried the ball 18 yards for first down. Hautala makes a five yard gain around the flank. A third down pass was incomplete. Hautala tried for a place kick but failed. Aitkin made first down on four successive plunges. Stevens goes around the end for five yards and on the punt Hautala lost the ball. Brainerd recovers the ball on Aitkin's third down and a pass completed to Wise gains 12 yards. Hautala gains eight yards and Fuller carries the ball over for a touchdown. They made the point after touchdown. Brainerd kicks to Aitkin on the 30 yard line. Aitkin's ball, first down, plunge through the line made two yards. Second down, end run by Stevens gained seven yards. Third down, Sandford hit the line for no gain. Fourth down, no gain, Brainerd's ball. First down for Brainerd, incompleted pass, no gain. JINX DEPARTS FROM GOPHER CAMP WHEN BOYS WALLOP IOWA

PRESENCE OF JOESTING IN LINE GIVES DOCTOR SPEARS' MEN NEW SPIRIT

PAUL M. JONES LOOKS TO SEE THE MINNESOTANS DOWN WISCONSIN NEXT WEEK

Wisconsin, Notre Dame and Michigan, not counting the mediocre Drake team, will have a hard job keeping their laurels when they stack up against the husky Minnesota gladiators in the remaining football games of the season, provided Doctor Spears' men come through without further injuries and those injured improve in condition, is the opinion of Paul M. Jones, Brainerd, who returned yesterday from Minneapolis, where he witnessed the Gophers hand down a stiff drubbing to the boys from the corn belt.

"Pat" Jones gives the following review today of the Big Ten teams and comments on the homecoming game at Minneapolis.

The "dope" bomb failed to land in the Big Ten campuses last Saturday, and for once, all the teams, but possibly Northwestern, which lost by the narrow margin of one point in their terrific battle with Illinois 7-6, won as predicted by the critics.

MINNESOTA IS FAVORITE TO WIN OVER WISCONSIN

GOPHERS COME INTO THEIR OWN IN LAST GAME

SCORED 38 TO 0 WIN OVER IOWA LAST SATURDAY

DOPE NOW IS THAT WISCONSIN IS DUE FOR A LICKING

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Two Big Ten teams come together this week in the Minnesota-Wisconsin clash at Minneapolis. Minnesota is a top-heavy favorite to win this game following its 38 to 0 victory over Iowa last Saturday. The Gophers apparently have come into their own following the disastrous tie with Indiana and unless "dope" is badly upset Wisconsin is due for a licking.

The next best game in the midwest will be at South Bend, where Notre Dame meets Georgia Tech. The Catholics continued their winning ways Saturday by defeating Indiana, 19 to 6, and should have little trouble with Georgia Tech, which shown no great strength this year.

Northwestern's Wildcats, who took their first defeat since 1925 last Saturday, meet Missouri at Evanston this week. They may find the going pretty rough but even though they are not pointed for this non-conference game, they should come out on top.

Pat Page's Indiana team, which has played better football this year than ever before, goes down to Cambridge Saturday and hopes to give Harvard its second defeat by a Big Ten team. Page's boys held Minnesota to an unexpected tie and didn't look so bad against Notre Dame.

Iowa plays Denver University at Iowa City and Purdue meets Montana State at Lafayette in the other two games of the day. Iowa and Purdue should win.

Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois and Chicago are now the only Big Ten teams as yet undefeated by conference opponents. But Minnesota was tied by Indiana, which means the Gophers cannot claim the title unless every other team in the conference is beaten or tied at least once. Chicago and Illinois both have so many tough games ahead that one defeat is almost certain, which makes it appear right now that the Michigan-Minnesota game at Ann Arbor, Nov. 19, is likely to be the deciding game of the season.

The feature game on the middle western football program this week-end will be at Champaign, where Michigan and Illinois, bitter rivals and both undefeated to date, clash in a game which is certain to have an important bearing on the final standing in the Big Ten.

Illinois, coached by Bob Zuppke, brought about the most important upset in mid-western football last Saturday by defeating the Great Northwestern team, 7 to 6, and it would not be surprising to see Illinois defeat the hitherto unbeaten Wolverines.

Michigan, however, showed more power than expected by defeating Ohio State, 21 to 0—all of which means the Illinois-Michigan battle will be one of those bitterly contested games which may be decided by one point. Since Red Grange humiliated Michigan three years ago the Wolverines have had revenge in their hearts. They defeated Illinois the last two years and hope to continue.

The University of Chicago, boasting a clean slate so far as conference games are concerned, go to Columbus this week and despite two successive defeats Ohio State has suffered, it is expected that Chicago's record will be scarred. Coach Stagg's team upheld the honor of western football Saturday by administering a 13 to 7 beating to Pennsylvania, but Ohio is almost certain to give Stagg far more trouble than did Penn.

The standings:

Team	W.	L.	T.
Illinois	1	0	0
Minnesota	1	0	1
Northwestern	1	1	0
Wisconsin	1	1	0
Ohio State	1	2	0
Indiana	0	1	1
Purdue	0	2	0
Iowa	0	2	0

La Junta, Colo., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Andres Selva, and his wife, both 40, drowned when their automobile overturned in a ditch near here, pinning them beneath the machine. Only 18 inches of water was running in the ditch.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Martin Jensen, wife of the Dole trans-Pacific flier, was reported considerably improved from effects of an overdose of veronal. Mrs. Jensen was found unconscious Saturday in her home. She said she had taken the veronal in an effort to induce sleep.

Oregon City, Ore., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—William Beebe, Jr., 2, told his mother and father he had placed his baby sister in a tub of water "to see her squirm." The three weeks old child was found dead by her mother.

ONLY 9 TEAMS OF EAST DODGE DEFEAT OR TIES

SIX POWERFUL ELEVENS HAVE CLAIMS TO SUPREMACY ON ATLANTIC SEABOARD

DARTMOUTH, W. & J., NEW YORK U, PRINCETON, YALE AND PITTSBURGH

New York, Oct. 24.—(UP)—With the 1927 football season at the halfway mark every eastern team has been scored upon and there remain only nine that have escaped defeat or ties.

Six powerful elevens have claims to supremacy along the Atlantic seaboard. They are Dartmouth, Washington and Jefferson, New York University, Princeton, Yale and Pittsburgh. Of these only Yale has lost a game and since that defeat was sustained in an intersectional game with Georgia, it does not figure in the mythical eastern championship race.

Yale, in beating the Army Saturday, 10 to 6, showed more fight than a Blue team has exhibited in two seasons. The Eli was in there to win and Bruce Caldwell, a Yale back, established himself as one of the year's stars by his performance in that game alone.

This week Yale and Dartmouth meet in a game that may settle a lot of arguments. Thus far the Hanover team has a record of 208 points scored against their opponents' 20 and Myles Lane, dashing halfback, has piled up a total of 101 points in five games.

But the big Green squad has met only one foe of better than average worth—Harvard, which was taken into camp by a 30 to 6 count. If Jess Hawley's men can triumph over Yale, Dartmouth's prospects for an undefeated year will brighten considerably.

New York University, leading the eastern elevens on attack with a total of 213 points against 19 for their opponents, also has not been tested. The Violet will play Colgate this week and a little further along wait Penn State and Nebraska.

Princeton came through nobly in downing a fast Cornell team, 21 to 10. The Tigers now face a let-up with William and Mary and then come battles with Ohio State and Yale that will determine the place of the Tigers in the football sun.

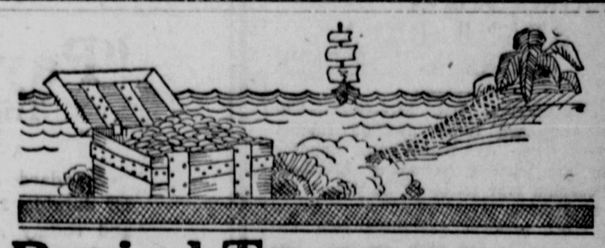

Pittsburgh downed Carnegie Tech Saturday for the city championship, 23 to 7, and the Carnegie touchdown was the first scored against the Pitt crew this year. The Panthers have a well-balanced team and may end up with an all-victorious season.

Washington and Jefferson showed its strength by ending LaFayette's long string of victories, defeating the eastern team on its own grounds, 14 to 0. The Presidents have won five games in a row, piling up 93 points to 12 for their opponents.

Other eastern elevens who have escaped defeat or tie are Maine which has amassed 205 points in four games, Rochester, Tufts and George Washington. But the schedules of those teams scarcely put them in line for titular claims.

Chicago, Oct. 24. — (U.P.)—When Gertrude Belmer, 15, explained to Reginald Andrew, she was too young to marry him, Andrews drew a pistol, fired at the girl and then shot himself through the head. He died a few minutes later. The bullet missed Miss Selmer.

Chicago, Oct. 24. — (U.P.)—Otto J. Wagner was arrested here, charged with being the "brains" of a band of organized silk thieves. Wagner was sought for three years. The gang is also said to have collected thousands of dollars through forging bills of lading.

An Asset to the Public Welfare

From the days of axle grease for wagons down to the present era of anti-knock gasoline for high compression motors and aviation gasoline and oil, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has taken the lead.

This Company has endeavored at all times to anticipate mechanical progress. By so doing, it has been able to render signal assistance in the development of mechanical ideas.

By introducing Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline to the motorist of the Middle West, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) did a major service in hurrying forward the development of the high compression motor, which gives increased gasoline mileage—a direct benefit to the 30 million people of the Middle West.

Long ago this Company anticipated the present rapid development of aviation, and when the need arose for special gasoline and fuel, it was ready with proved products—tried and found good.

The mechanical progress which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has aided and anticipated is only important as it touches human life, for that is the ultimate universal goal of which this Company is always conscious.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the success of an industrial institution is determined by its contribution to the public welfare. It owes its own successful growth to an active creed of service.

In three distinct ways this Company has proved itself an asset to the public welfare. It has provided petroleum products of sustained high quality for the people of the Middle West—when and where needed—at minimum prices. It has employed to the fullest possible advantage the capital of the more than 50,000 stockholders. It has utilized the time and ability of 29,000 employes for the good of all concerned.

Scientific elimination of waste, able management, and the efficiency made possible by quantity production, enable the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to reward satisfactorily stockholders and employes (thousands of whom are also stockholders) for their investments of money and labor.

Within the organization this Company has contributed very directly to human welfare, instituting the Death Benefits Plan, Annuity Plan, Industrial Relations Plan and Stock Purchasing Plans for the benefit of its employes.

Thus in ways direct and indirect the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has promoted the public welfare and the nation's progress.

While it takes a pardonable pride in the progress of the past, this Company is not satisfied. It is always stretching forward—moving on to new achievements. Daily it strives for improvement—seeking to bring life "nearer to the heart's desire" for its vast army of workers, seeking to serve the 30 million people of the Middle West with wider vision and greater skill.

AITKIN DOWNED ON HOME FIELD 7 TO 0 BY LOCAL GRIDDERS

FULLER CARRIES BALL OVER FOR TOUCHDOWN NEAR CLOSE OF HALF

WISE AND WELLIVER HANDLE SUBSTITUTE POSITIONS WELL

In spite of injuries the Brainerd high school team came out victors in the clash Saturday afternoon with Aitkin by the score of 7 to 0 in the best game of the season.

The local team showed a decided improvement over its previous engagements this season while the Aitkin boys were at their topnotch speed but not fast enough to cope with the plays and line smashes of the local warriors.

Stevens, star halfback for Aitkin, 10 second man, was stopped. Frank Wise and Welliver, taking the place of Buscher and LaCourse, played in creditable fashion. LaCourse and Buscher will be in the line next Saturday when Brainerd meets Aitkin here. Little Falls has been gracious enough to ask that in view of the stiff drubbing they received at the hands of Brainerd, to cancel their engagement here. The Aitkin boys have been selected as able opposition for the Brainerd boys on the second and last home game.

First Quarter

Brainerd kicked off to Aitkin and the ball was returned 10 yards to the 30 yard line Brainerd failed to complete a pass on the first down but Stevens carried the ball on the second down for a beautiful run of 18 yards. First down, Brainerd makes a short gain through the line. Brainerd punts to Aitkin on their 30 yard line and they fail to make any gain in return. Aitkin fails to gain in three tries and Brainerd received the punt. Fuller crashes through center for three yards and Hautala follows up with a four yard run around right end. Fourth down, Brainerd punts. Aitkin fails to make a gain in three tries and punts poorly. Hautala made an end run and Brainerd attempted a pass but failed to complete. Fuller hit the line for two yards and Brainerd punts to Aitkin on the 28 yard line. Aitkin tries three line plunges but fails to get anywhere and punts on the fourth down to Brainerd on the 40 yard line the ball being carried 20 yards. Brainerd makes ten yards on a trick play to Wise. Swanson made one yard, and Fuller ran six yards to complete play for the first quarter.

Second Quarter

Brainerd makes half a yard gain and Wise carried the ball 18 yards for first down. Hautala makes a five yard gain around the flank. A third down pass was incomplete. Hautala tried for a place kick but failed. Aitkin made first down on four successive plunges. Stevens goes around the end for five yards and on the punt Hautala lost the ball. Brainerd recovers the ball on Aitkin's third down and a pass completed to Wise gains 12 yards. Hautala gains eight yards and Fuller carries the ball over for a touchdown. They made the point after touchdown. Brainerd kicks to Aitkin on the 30 yard line. Aitkin's ball, first down, plunge through the line made two yards. JINX DEPARTS FROM GOPHER CAMP WHEN BOYS WALLOP IOWA

PRESENCE OF JOESTING IN LINE GIVES DOCTOR SPEARS' MEN NEW SPIRIT

Wisconsin, Notre Dame and Michigan, not counting the mediocre Drake team, will have a hard job keeping their laurels when they stack up against the husky Minnesota gladiators in the remaining football games of the season, provided Doctor Spears' men come through without further injuries and those injured improve in condition, is the opinion of Paul M. Jones, Brainerd, who returned yesterday from Minneapolis, where he witnessed the Gophers hand down a stiff drubbing to the boys from the corn belt.

"Pat" Jones gives the following review today of the Big Ten teams and comments on the homecoming game at Minneapolis.

The "dope" bomb failed to land in the Big Ten campuses last Saturday, and for once, all the teams, but possibly Northwestern, which lost by the narrow margin of one point in their terrific battle with Illinois 7-6, won as predicted by the critics.

MINNESOTA IS FAVORITE TO WIN OVER WISCONSIN

GOPHERS COME INTO THEIR OWN IN LAST GAME

SCORED 38 TO 0 WIN OVER IOWA LAST SATURDAY

DOPE NOW IS THAT WISCONSIN IS DUE FOR A LICKING

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Two Big Ten teams come together this week in the Minnesota-Wisconsin clash at Minneapolis. Minnesota is a top-heavy favorite to win this game following its 38 to 0 victory over Iowa last Saturday. The Gophers apparently have come into their own following the disastrous tie with Indiana and unless "dope" is badly upset Wisconsin is due for a licking.

The next best game in the midwest will be at South Bend, where Notre Dame meets Georgia Tech. The Catholics continued their winning ways Saturday by defeating Indiana, 19 to 6, and should have little trouble with Georgia Tech, which shown no great strength this year.

Northwestern's Wildcats, who took their first defeat since 1925 last Saturday, meet Missouri at Evanston this week. They may find the going pretty rough but even though they are not pointed for this non-conference game, they should come out on top.

Pat Page's Indiana team, which has played better football this year than ever before, goes down to Cambridge Saturday and hopes to give Harvard its second defeat by a Big Ten team. Page's boys held Minnesota to an unexpected tie and didn't look so bad against Notre Dame.

Iowa plays Denver University at Iowa City and Purdue meets Montana State at Lafayette in the other two games of the day. Iowa and Purdue should win.

Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois and Chicago are now the only Big Ten teams as yet unbeaten by conference opponents. But Minnesota was tied by Indiana, which means the Gophers cannot claim the title unless every other team in the conference is beaten or tied at least once. Chicago and Illinois both have so many tough games ahead that one defeat is almost certain, which makes it appear right now that the Michigan-Minnesota game at Ann Arbor, Nov. 19, is likely to be the deciding game of the season.

The feature game on the middle western football program this week-end will be at Champaign, where Michigan and Illinois, bitter rivals and both undefeated to date, clash in a game which is certain to have an important bearing on the final standing in the Big Ten.

Illinois, coached by Bob Zuppke, brought about the most important upset in mid-western football last Saturday by defeating the Great Northwestern team, 7 to 6, and it would not be surprising to see Illinois defeat the hitherto unbeaten Wolverines.

Michigan, however, showed more power than expected by defeating Ohio State, 21 to 0—all of which means the Illinois-Michigan battle will be one of those bitterly contested games which may be decided by one point. Since Red Grange humiliated Michigan three years ago the Wolverines have had revenge in their hearts. They defeated Illinois the last two years and hope to continue.

The University of Chicago, boasting a clean slate so far as conference games are concerned, go to Columbus this week and despite two successive defeats Ohio State has suffered, it is expected that Chicago's record will be scarred. Coach Stagg's team upheld the honor of western football Saturday by administering a 13 to 7 beating to Pennsylvania, but Ohio is almost certain to give Stagg far more trouble than did Penn.

The standings:

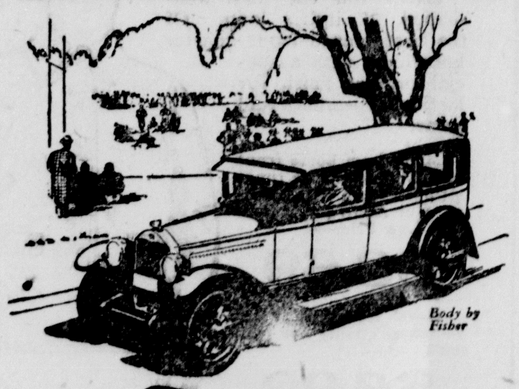

Team	W.	L.	T.
Illinois	1	0	0
Minnesota	1	0	1
Northwestern	1	1	0
Wisconsin	1	1	0
Ohio State	1	2	0
Indiana	0	1	1
Iowa	0	2	0

La Junta, Colo., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Andres Selva, and his wife, both 40, drowned when their automobile overturned in a ditch near here, pinning them beneath the machine. Only 18 inches of water was running in the ditch.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Martin Jensen, wife of the Dole trans-Pacific flier, was reported considerably improved from effects of an overdose of veronal. Mrs. Jensen was found unconscious Saturday in her home. She said she had taken the veronal in an effort to induce sleep.

Oregon City, Ore., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—William Beebe, Jr., 2, told his mother and father he had placed his baby sister in a tub of water "to see her squirm." The three weeks old child was found dead by her mother.

ONLY 9 TEAMS OF EAST DODGE DEFEAT OR TIES

DARTMOUTH, W. & J., NEW YORK U, PRINCETON, YALE AND PITTSBURGH

New York, Oct. 24.—(UP)—With the 1927 football season at the halfway mark every eastern team has been scored upon and there remain only nine that have escaped defeat or ties.

Six powerful elevens have claims to supremacy along the Atlantic seaboard. They are Dartmouth, Washington and Jefferson, New York University, Princeton, Yale and Pittsburgh. Of these only Yale has lost a game and since that defeat was sustained in an intersectional game with Georgia, it does not figure in the mythical eastern championship race.

Yale, in beating the Army Saturday, 10 to 6, showed more fight than a Blue team has exhibited in two seasons. The Eli was in there to win and Bruce Caldwell, a Yale back, established himself as one of the year's stars by his performance in that game alone.

This week Yale and Dartmouth meet in a game that may settle a lot of arguments. Thus far the Hanover team has a record of 208 points scored against their opponents' 20 and Myles Lane, dashing halfback, has piled up a total of 101 points in five games.

But the big Green squad has met only one foe of better than average worth—Harvard, which was taken into camp by a 30 to 6 count. If Jess Hawley's men can triumph over Yale, Dartmouth's prospects for an undefeated year will brighten considerably.

New York University, leading the eastern eleven on attack with a total of 213 points against 19 for their opponents, also has not been tested. The Violet will play Colgate this week and a little further along wait Penn State and Nebraska.

Princeton came through nobly in downing a fast Cornell team, 21 to 10. The Tigers now face a let-up with William and Mary and then come battles with Ohio State and Yale that will determine the place of the Tigers in the football sun.

Pitsburgh downed Carnegie Tech Saturday for the city championship, 23 to 7, and the Carnegie touchdown was the first scored against the Pitt crew this year. The Panthers have a well-balanced team and may end up with an all-victorious season.

Washington and Jefferson showed its strength by ending LaFayette's long string of victories, defeating the eastern team on its own grounds, 14 to 0. The Presidents have won five games in a row, piling up 93 points to 12 for their opponents.

Other eastern elevens who have escaped defeat or tie are Maine which has amassed 205 points in four games, Rochester, Tufts and George Washington. But the schedules of those teams scarcely put them in line for titular claims.

Chicago, Oct. 24. — (U.P.)—When Gertrude Belmer, 15, explained to Reginald Andrew, she was too young to marry him, Andrews drew a pistol, fired at the girl and then shot himself through the head. He died a few minutes later. The bullet missed Miss Selmer.

Chicago, Oct. 24. — (U.P.)—Otto J. Wagner was arrested here, charged with being the "brains" of a band of organized silk thieves. Wagner was sought for three years. The gang is also said to have collected thousands of dollars through forging bills of lading.

MORROW PREPARES TO VISIT ESTRADA

NEW U. S. AMBASSADOR TO MEXICO ABOUT TO PRESENT CREDENTIALS

Mexico City, Oct. 24. — (UP) — Dwight W. Morrow, new United States ambassador to Mexico, prepared today to visit acting Secretary of Foreign Relations Estrada, before presenting his credentials to President Calles.

It is expected his call on Estrada will be made today, and that he will meet Calles tomorrow or Wednesday.

Morrow made no statement when he reached Mexico City last night.

Arthur Lane, first secretary of the embassy, said the new ambassador's trip from Laredo, Texas, had been without incident. Morrow's special car left the border at 11 A. M. Saturday, and arrived in Mexico City at 8:35 last night.

After the formalities of presenting his credentials, Morrow probably will begin a study of the entire Mexican situation in so far as it affects the United States. He probably will spend several weeks or even months in study before he makes any important moves.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Sheila Kildare and her father emigrate to America, following Emmett Murtough, to whom she is betrothed. Neither Kildare nor Murtough hold steady jobs and Sheila is compelled to work as a waitress. She makes friends with Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer whose kindness interests her. Rory wins his last fight. Murtough has joined a band of bootleggers and reveals plans to move $150,000 worth of contraband to a cabaret girl. She sends Murtough to join the rivals.

Murtough read the note. He could not understand why he should be summoned from his bed at this hour in the morning, but he knew that Clarice was a clever girl and he accepted her statement that a big thing for him was waiting in Room 717. Quickly he dressed and after a cup of coffee at one of the all night lunch stands he hailed a taxicab and gave instructions to drive to the Marmaduke Hotel. The elevator boy showed no surprise when he stepped in and asked to be taken to the room. When he knocked on the door it opened and Schermer stepped out.

"I'm Murtough. Did you send for me?"

"What have you got to show for it?"

Murtough after a search found the note which he had crammed into his inside pocket. In looking for it he revealed the gun holster under his coat. Schermer read the note.

"Give me your gun," he demanded. "This is a friendly talk."

"How do I know?"

"You know this lady, don't you? Can't you take her word for it?" Murtough drew his gun and handed it to Schermer, who threw open the door and let Murtough enter the room in front of him. Schermer closed the door and called:

"Give me your gun," he demanded.

"All right, he's here!"

The room was evidently a parlor with bedrooms connecting, one on either side. Curtains screened the doors. The curtains were thrust aside and two men in dressing gowns stepped into the center of the room. They were the men who were the companions of Schermer the night he had first talked with Clarice. The tall, thin stranger took the situation in hand.

"Sit down," he invited, pointing to a convenient chair. "Gus, pass the glasses, he may want a drink." Murtough filled the small glass and swallowed it. He drew a package of cigarettes and lighted one. Schermer's two companions sat down comfortably opposite him, but Schermer kept to his feet and idled between Murtough and the hallway door.

"We think you can help us. If you do, we can help you. We know all about you. You are working for Mannie Clocker and we asked you to come here to offer you a better job. That's all right, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir." Murtough was abashed at the coolness of the spokesman. "What is it ye want me to do?"

"We'll come to that. First, let me set something straight in your mind which you may not have thought of. A man is worth just so much to his employer, and an employer never pays for more than he gets. Right?" Murtough nodded. "All right, you are worth just a driver's pay to Clocker. We think you'll be worth a lot more to us, if you learn how to play our game."

"What is it—driving?"

"Driving to a certain spot and doing what we tell you to do."

Murtough squirmed and nervously flung his cigarette into the empty fireplace. He could not understand what this mystery meant. Instantly there arose the fear of a trap and a frame-up! He had walked blindly into it, had even given up his gun to his captors, if captors they were. But Clarice was all right, she was smart and must have known what she was doing when she sent him there.

"What do you mean?"

"You have been driving to Clocker's landing station in Long Island. We know that he is unloading a shipful of stuff there next Friday and Saturday nights. We want you to drive us to that landing station tonight and give us the lowdown on how the land lays around it."

"You mean to frame-up Mannie? Not much! I've never been an informer an' I won't be one now." Murtough started to his feet and Schermer backed to the door, his right hand in his pocket. Murtough saw the point of the gun bulging out the cloth of the coat.

"Sit down, sit down. You're a business man and you're among business men. I haven't finished yet." Murtough sat back and lighted another cigarette. "Better have another drink, you seem nervous." Murtough did and the leader continued:

"We'll have a car ready at three this afternoon. You are to guide it. When we get to the vicinity of the landing station, you are to show us just what the layout is, how far it is from the shore to the buildings, where the trucks can be parked and all about it."

"Mannie'd bump me off!"

"Anybody with enough money in his pocket doesn't have to fear that; besides, we'll employ you permanently and see that you work outside where Clocker's gang would never find you. Besides, he will never know who gave us the information, if you feel you'd like to stay on with him. But he's no good, never has been, never pays his men enough money. He makes thousands; they, one dollar bills."

"But he'd find out sure," muttered Murtough, wetting his lips, "and he'd get me sure."

"He didn't get the follows who shot you up, did he?" sneered the thin stranger. "Now, there's five thousand dollars in this for you, if you do your job well, and nobody will ever be the wiser. Five thousand dollars! That's a lot of money, and it shows that we play fair with those who play with us."

The speaker stopped. Murtough reviewed swiftly what this fortune would mean to him. Murtough was not a born crook. He was a weak man, a boastful man, but not at heart a deserter of his friends. His first chance to earn real money had come from Mannie Clocker, who had trusted him.

"No, not by a long shot. I won't turn up Mannie for none of ye. Who are ye, anyway," the thought suddenly flashed across his mind "Why, how did ye know Mannie never got the men that hi-jacked us? Ye must be some of the Stevens gang yourselves."

"Shut up and listen to me! Never mind who we are," the thin man arose and stood towering over him. "We asked you to do this job. We offered you good pay for it. Now, let me tell you that you are going to do it, and whether you get paid or not is going to be up to us. Hear me!"

"I won't turn up Mannie Clocker!"

"All right, we'll turn you up to Mannie Clocker."

"Me? Turn me up?"

"Certainly, where do you suppose we got the information? It came right from you. We'll turn our trick and we'll let Mannie know just how and where we got the information."

Murtough's thoughts raced back to the night he had spent with Clarice. What had he said? Who had overheard him? Had Clarice given the information to these men?

"More than that, Mannie will get that little moll of yours that you tell too much to as well."

So Clarice had broken confidence. It was she who had let these men know about the cargo due in from sea.

"Did she tell you?"

"Never mind. We know that you talked too much and we can prove it to Clocker's satisfaction, prove it so well that the police will find you floating in the Hudson some morning."

"I'm not afraid."

"You may not be afraid for yourself, but you certainly are man enough to protect a girl when her life is in danger, and all due to your own stupidity."

The tall man sat down again and sipped from a glass. He pressed no further on Murtough while several minutes passed. Murtough suddenly felt himself responsible for all that had occurred. Why had he talked so much that night? Someone in Corrigan's must have listened and repeated his conversation to these men. But that should not complicate Clarice. She was in no wise to blame. And she must not suffer because of his carelessness with the secrets of Mannie Clocker. Schermer renewed the proposition.

FAMED JOCKEY NOW A SUICIDE

New York, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Benjamin Marinelli, 24, who rose to fame as a jockey at Tijuana at 17, is dead, a suicide.

Little more than a year ago the jockey was unconscious for more than a week from injuries he received at Jamaica when the horse he was riding stumbled and threw him. Another horse fell on the jockey and Marinelli had a fractured skull.

Months after the accident he rode for the stable of Mrs. A. Swenke. He was to have ridden one of her horses at the Empire meeting in Yonkers Saturday, but said he was sick.

His body was discovered with a gas tube near the mouth when a friend called on him yesterday.

A letter addressed to his brother, Alfred Marinelli, Newark, was found in his room.

JINX DEPARTS FROM GOPHER CAMP WHEN BOYS WALLOP IOWA

ponent, displayed a wonderful exhibition of modern football and more than defeated the strong Purdue team than the score of 12-6 indicates. They have two halfbacks in Rose and Crofoot who are the best receivers and passers in the conference. Both men seem to be the backbone of the Badger team and no doubt will make it plenty warm for the Gophers at Minneapolis on Saturday. Michigan eliminated Ohio State from the race by trimming them soundly, 21-0, on the Wolverine field. Notre Dame, as usual, with its varied attack of its many teams, set Indiana back, 19-6, but Indiana scored on the subs, indicating that the Irish will probably again regain the distinction of being the world's champions, which they lost last year when Carnegie Technical overwhelmed them, 19-0. Chicago, after the early season defeat at the hands of Oklahoma University, continued to show great promise in the conference race by defeating the Pennsylvania team, 13-7, besides defeating Indiana and Purdue.

As predicted, the Gophers triumphed over Iowa in their big homecoming in the stadium before over 45,000 fans, by the one-sided score of 38-0. More credit is due the Gophers and coach than the public realizes for with all the press publicity of wonderful material this year and what to expect, the usual jinx of severe injuries to the players on the eve of the important games has made it a stiff problem to know how to line up a winning combination and keep from the line-up the injured who were needing rest and care by the trainers. I visited the field myself and saw the handicaps that confronted Spears after the disastrous Indiana game, and to bring back the right frame of mind and the old fighting spirit was a task, but the boys realized the situation and with one or two alterations of players and a few plays to work with, the Gophers gave their heavier opponents from Iowa, where the tall corn grows, something to think about. Hovde was sent in at quarter while Almquist was shifted to a half and from the kick-off the Gophers played real hard football, displaying by far the best game of the year and in so doing looked so good that they made Iowa look weak. Iowa was so good that the Minnesota boys refused to let them have the ball and they made but four first downs to the Gophers' 16. Their forward passing was no better, for in that phase they completed but one in five to Minnesota's 11 out of 21. By placing Pharmer at one of the halves, it gave Minnesota a chance to fight back on even terms some of the great punts opponents have been sending at Minnesota. He also proved a great runner and passer and will be heard from before he is through at Minnesota. The presence of the All-American fullback, Joesting seemed to give the boys more confidence and at the same time, it gave everybody a chance to see him play the best game of the year and emphasized more and more the critics' picking. All-American men better glance at him for 1927, for though a rare instance, Joesting surely should again be given the fullback position on the final mythical selection.

If further injuries to the squad can be avoided and a few of the convalescing return to the fold, the Badgers will receive the same medicine others have on the home field, though the spectators will be treated to some far superior football than any of the opponents' have shown this season. Though defeated by Michigan 14-0 from bad fumbles, Wisconsin has a strong, fast team capable of extending the Gophers to their utmost. They have a wonderful passing game but Minnesota seems to be able to take care of this department in their defensive tactics better than ever before so I am not looking for trouble there if injuries stay away. The team physically is not very good, so battered up are the men who are the main cogs in the team. That counts in completing plays that otherwise would be successful, as was true Saturday, when Nydahl missed passes.

His injured knee kept him from keeping that terrific speed up until the ball was touched.

After Wisconsin the Gophers go to South Bend to battle Rockne's famous Notre Dame team and if in any kind of shape will be a fit opponent for the Irish. Minnesota has a good running attack that will keep the Irish awake and probably more than they will meet all season. By that time some of the injured ought to be back and Notre Dame will know she has been in a ball game.

Then comes Drake, a team that has not shown much to date and will be but rest for the regulars and recreation for the "subs." To close the season and the real battle will shift to An Arbor and once again the Gophers will fight for the historical "Brown Jug," and see if it returns to Minnesota after an elapse of about ten years. Michigan shows to date a big, strong team but not as unbeatable as past teams from her school have proven to the Gophers to be under fire. If Minnesota can be at full strength, beware Wolverines!

MISSOURI MEETS ITS FIRST DEFEAT OF THE SEASON

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—For the last three years Gwinn Henry's football teams at the University of Missouri have gone through the gridiron season with almost a perfect record. But each season saw one defeat for Henry's teams.

Saturday Missouri met her first defeat of the 1927 season when Southern Methodist university won 32 to 9.

It was "the" upset of the Missouri valley.

Missouri's defeat by the Mustangs failed to dislodge the Tigers as leaders of the conference, for S. M. U. is not in the Missouri valley.

This week-end only two conference games are scheduled and there will be little change in percentage standings.

The standing of the teams:

Drake	1	0	0
Nebraska	2	1	0
Kansas Aggies	2	1	0
Washington	1	1	1
Kansas	1	1	1
Oklahoma Aggies	0	1	0
Iowa State	0	1	0
Oklahoma Aggies	0	1	0
Grinnell	0	3	0

"The Big Parade" to Open Four Day Engagement at Lyceum Tomorrow

The forthcoming engagement of "The Big Parade," King Vidor's picturization of Laurence Stallings' stirring World War story, which opens at the Lyceum theatre Tuesday is being much discussed, and the opening is awaited with keen interest. John Glibert and Renee Adoree are featured. Popular prices will prevail.

Jannings Has Big Role in "Quo Vadis"

"When Emil Jannings is right, there isn't a greater screen artist in the world."

The compliment came from George Gerhardt, the New York Evening World's photoplay critic, and it was well deserved. The beauty of it is that Jannings is practically always "right."

In the gigantic version of "Quo Vadis," which will be presented at the Park theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, Jannings is declared to have eclipsed himself.

"Prince of Headwaiters" Excellent Drama at Lyceum

One of the outstanding dramas of the season, "The Prince of Headwaiters," with Lewis Stone, Priscilla Bonner, Lilyan Tashman, Ann Rork, Robert Agnew and E. J. Ratcliffe heading a remarkable cast, is the feature photoplay now at the Lyceum.

"Mike" Notables From All Fields

If fame could be weighed, "Mike," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, now showing at the Lyceum theatre would weigh a ton. The stage, the screen, comedy, tragedy, in fact all the representative types of art have been contributed to the casting of "Mike."

Sally O'Neil and Wm. Haines have the featured roles.

LAD DOES NOT REGRET THAT HE KILLED HIS FATHER

Woodstock, Ill., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—William Schumacher, 28, does not regret he killed his father, Christopher Schumacher, he said in the county jail here. He believes he did the right thing and that he rid his mother, brothers and sisters of a "brute."

William shot his father through the head from behind with a shot gun. In his confessions, he detailed brutal acts he said his father committed against Mrs. Schumacher and the children.

Miss Jessie Marlowe, whom Schumacher was to have married this winter, declared she would stand by her fiance, even though he had committed a murder. She said people of this county know William and knew his father and that they won't want to see William punished."

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Sheila Kildare and her father emigrate to America, following Emmett Murtough, to whom she is betrothed. Neither Kildare nor Murtough hold steady jobs and Sheila is compelled to work as a waitress. She makes friends with Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer whose kindness interests her. Rory wins his last fight. Murtough has joined a band of bootleggers and reveals plans to move $150,000 worth of contraband to a cabaret girl. She sends Murtough to join the rivals.

Murtough read the note. He could not understand why he should be summoned from his bed at this hour in the morning, but he knew that Clarice was a clever girl and he accepted her statement that a big thing for him was waiting in Room 717. Quickly he dressed and after a cup of coffee at one of the all night lunch stands he hailed a taxicab and gave instructions to drive to the Marmaduke Hotel. The elevator boy showed no surprise when he stepped in and asked to be taken to the room. When he knocked on the door it opened and Schermer stepped out.

"I'm Murtough. Did you send for me?"

"What have you got to show for it?"

Murtough after a search found the note which he had crammed into his inside pocket. In looking for it he revealed the gun holster under his coat. Schermer read the note.

"Give me your gun," he demanded. "This is a friendly talk."

"How do I know?"

"You know this lady, don't you? Can't you take her word for it?" Murtough drew his gun and handed it to Schermer, who threw open the door and let Murtough enter the room in front of him. Schermer closed the door and called:

"Give me your gun," he demanded.

"All right, he's here!"

The room was evidently a parlor with bedrooms connecting, one on either side. Curtains screened the doors. The curtains were thrust aside and two men in dressing gowns stepped into the center of the room. They were the men who were the companions of Schermer the night he had first talked with Clarice. The tall, thin stranger took the situation in hand.

"Sit down," he invited, pointing to a convenient chair. "Gus, pass the glasses, he may want a drink." Murtough filled the small glass and swallowed it. He drew a package of cigarettes and lighted one. Schermer's two companions sat down comfortably opposite him, but Schermer kept to his feet and idled between Murtough and the hallway door.

"We think you can help us. If you do, we can help you. We know all about you. You are working for Mannie Clocker and we asked you to come here to offer you a better job. That's all right, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir." Murtough was abashed at the coolness of the spokesman. "What is it ye want me to do?"

"We'll come to that. First, let me set something straight in your mind which you may not have thought of. A man is worth just so much to his employer, and an employer never pays for more than he gets. Right?" Murtough nodded. "All right, you are worth just a driver's pay to Clocker. We think you'll be worth a lot more to us, if you learn how to play our game."

"What is it—driving?"

"Driving to a certain spot and doing what we tell you to do."

Murtough squirmed and nervously flung his cigarette into the empty fireplace. He could not understand what this mystery meant. Instantly there arose the fear of a trap and a frame-up! He had walked blindly into it, had even given up his gun to his captors, if captors they were. But Clarice was all right, she was smart and must have known what she was doing when she sent him there.

"What do you mean?"

"You have been driving to Clocker's landing station in Long Island. We know that he is unloading a shipful of stuff there next Friday and Saturday nights. We want you to drive us to that landing station tonight and give us the lowdown on how the land lays around it."

"You mean to frame-up Mannie? Not much! I've never been an informer an' I won't be one now." Murtough started to his feet and Schermer backed to the door, his right hand in his pocket. Murtough saw the point of the gun bulging out the cloth of the coat.

"Sit down, sit down. You're a business man and you're among business men. I haven't finished yet." Murtough sat back and lighted another cigarette. "Better have another drink, you seem nervous." Murtough did and the leader continued:

"We'll have a car ready at three this afternoon. You are to guide it. When we get to the vicinity of the landing station, you are to show us just what the layout is, how far it is from the shore to the buildings, where the trucks can be parked and all about it."

"Mannie'd bump me off!"

"Anybody with enough money in his pocket doesn't have to fear that; besides, we'll employ you permanently and see that you work outside where Clocker's gang would never find you. Besides, he will never know who gave us the information, if you feel you'd like to stay on with him. But he's no good, never has been, never pays his men enough money. He makes thousands; they, one dollar bills."

"But he'd find out sure," muttered Murtough, wetting his lips, "and he'd get me sure."

"He didn't get the follows who shot you up, did he?" sneered the thin stranger. "Now, there's five thousand dollars in this for you, if you do your job well, and nobody will ever be the wiser. Five thousand dollars! That's a lot of money, and it shows that we play fair with those who play with us."

The speaker stopped. Murtough reviewed swiftly what this fortune would mean to him. Murtough was not a born crook. He was a weak man, a boastful man, but not at heart a deserter of his friends. His first chance to earn real money had come from Mannie Clocker, who had trusted him.

"No, not by a long shot. I won't turn up Mannie for none of ye. Who are ye, anyway," the thought suddenly flashed across his mind "Why, how did ye know Mannie never got the men that hi-jacked us? Ye must be some of the Stevens gang yourselves."

"Shut up and listen to me! Never mind who we are," the thin man arose and stood towering over him. "We asked you to do this job. We offered you good pay for it. Now, let me tell you that you are going to do it, and whether you get paid or not is going to be up to us. Hear me!"

"I won't turn up Mannie Clocker!"

"All right, we'll turn you up to Mannie Clocker."

"Me? Turn me up?"

"Certainly, where do you suppose we got the information? It came right from you. We'll turn our trick and we'll let Mannie know just how and where we got the information."

Murtough's thoughts raced back to the night he had spent with Clarice. What had he said? Who had overheard him? Had Clarice given the information to these men?

"More than that, Mannie will get that little moll of yours that you tell too much to as well."

So Clarice had broken confidence. It was she who had let these men know about the cargo due in from sea.

"Did she tell you?"

"Never mind. We know that you talked too much and we can prove it to Clocker's satisfaction, prove it so well that the police will find you floating in the Hudson some morning."

"I'm not afraid."

"You may not be afraid for yourself, but you certainly are man enough to protect a girl when her life is in danger, and all due to your own stupidity."

The tall man sat down again and sipped from a glass. He pressed no further on Murtough while several minutes passed. Murtough suddenly felt himself responsible for all that had occurred. Why had he talked so much that night? Someone in Corrigan's must have listened and repeated his conversation to these men. But that should not complicate Clarice. She was in no wise to blame. And she must not suffer because of his carelessness with the secrets of Mannie Clocker. Schermer renewed the proposition.

FAMED JOCKEY NOW A SUICIDE

New York, Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—Benjamin Marinelli, 24, who rose to fame as a jockey at Tijuana at 17, is dead, a suicide.

Little more than a year ago the jockey was unconscious for more than a week from injuries he received at Jamaica when the horse he was riding stumbled and threw him. Another horse fell on the jockey and Marinelli had a fractured skull.

Months after the accident he rode for the stable of Mrs. A. Swenke. He was to have ridden one of her horses at the Empire meeting in Yonkers Saturday, but said he was sick.

His body was discovered with a gas tube near the mouth when a friend called on him yesterday.

A letter addressed to his brother, Alfred Marinelli, Newark, was found in his room.

ponent, displayed a wonderful exhibition of modern football and more than defeated the strong Purdue team than the score of 12-6 indicates. They have two halfbacks in Rose and Crofoot who are the best receivers and passers in the conference. Both men seem to be the backbone of the Badger team and no doubt will make it plenty warm for the Gophers at Minneapolis on Saturday. Michigan eliminated Ohio State from the race by trimming them soundly, 21-0, on the Wolverine field. Notre Dame, as usual, with its varied attack of its many teams, set Indiana back, 19-6, but Indiana scored on the subs, indicating that the Irish will probably again regain the distinction of being the world's champions, which they lost last year when Carnegie Technical overwhelmed them, 19-0. Chicago, after the early season defeat at the hands of Oklahoma University, continued to show great promise in the conference race by defeating the Pennsylvania team, 13-7, besides defeating Indiana and Purdue.

As predicted, the Gophers triumphed over Iowa in their big homecoming in the stadium before over 45,000 fans, by the one-sided score of 38-0. More credit is due the Gophers and coach than the public realizes for with all the press publicity of wonderful material this year and what to expect, the usual jinx of severe injuries to the players on the eve of the important games has made it a stiff problem to know how to line up a winning combination and keep from the line-up the injured who were needing rest and care by the trainers. I visited the field myself and saw the handicaps that confronted Spears after the disastrous Indiana game, and to bring back the right frame of mind and the old fighting spirit was a task, but the boys realized the situation and with one or two alterations of players and a few plays to work with, the Gophers gave their heavier opponents from Iowa, where the tall corn grows, something to think about. Hovde was sent in at quarter while Almquist was shifted to a half and from the kick-off the Gophers played real hard football, displaying by far the best game of the year and in so doing looked so good that they made Iowa look weak. Iowa was so good that the Minnesota boys refused to let them have the ball and they made but four first downs to the Gophers' 16. Their forward passing was no better, for in that phase they completed but one in five to Minnesota's 11 out of 21. By placing Pharmer at one of the halves, it gave Minnesota a chance to fight back on even terms some of the great punts opponents have been sending at Minnesota. He also proved a great runner and passer and will be heard from before he is through at Minnesota. The presence of the All-American fullback, Joesting seemed to give the boys more confidence and at the same time, it gave everybody a chance to see him play the best game of the year and emphasized more and more the critics' picking. All-American men better glance at him for 1927, for though a rare instance, Joesting surely should again be given the fullback position on the final mythical selection.

If further injuries to the squad can be avoided and a few of the convalescing return to the fold, the Badgers will receive the same medicine others have on the home field, though the spectators will be treated to some far superior football than any of the opponents' have shown this season. Though defeated by Michigan 14-0 from bad fumbles, Wisconsin has a strong, fast team capable of extending the Gophers to their utmost. They have a wonderful passing game but Minnesota seems to be able to take care of this department in their defensive tactics better than ever before so I am not looking for trouble there if injuries stay away. The team physically is not very good, so battered up are the men who are the main cogs in the team. That counts in completing plays that otherwise would be successful, as was true Saturday, when Nydahl missed passes.

His injured knee kept him from keeping that terrific speed up until the ball was touched.

After Wisconsin the Gophers go to South Bend to battle Rockne's famous Notre Dame team and if in any kind of shape will be a fit opponent for the Irish. Minnesota has a good running attack that will keep the Irish awake and probably more than they will meet all season. By that time some of the injured ought to be back and Notre Dame will know she has been in a ball game.

Then comes Drake, a team that has not shown much to date and will be but rest for the regulars and recreation for the "subs." To close the season and the real battle will shift to An Arbor and once again the Gophers will fight for the historical "Brown Jug," and see if it returns to Minnesota after an elapse of about ten years. Michigan shows to date a big, strong team but not as unbeatable as past teams from her school have proven to the Gophers to be under fire. If Minnesota can be at full strength, beware Wolverines!

MISSOURI MEETS ITS FIRST DEFEAT OF THE SEASON

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—For the last three years Gwinn Henry's football teams at the University of Missouri have gone through the gridiron season with almost a perfect record. But each season saw one defeat for Henry's teams.

Saturday Missouri met her first defeat of the 1927 season when Southern Methodist university won 32 to 9.

It was "the" upset of the Missouri valley.

Missouri's defeat by the Mustangs failed to dislodge the Tigers as leaders of the conference, for S. M. U. is not in the Missouri valley.

This week-end only two conference games are scheduled and there will be little change in percentage standings.

The standing of the teams:

Nebraska	2	1	0
Kansas Aggies	2	1	0
Washington	1	1	1
Kansas	1	1	1
Oklahoma Aggies	0	1	0
Grinnell	0	3	0

"The Big Parade" to Open Four Day Engagement at Lyceum Tomorrow

The forthcoming engagement of "The Big Parade," King Vidor's picturization of Laurence Stallings' stirring World War story, which opens at the Lyceum theatre Tuesday is being much discussed, and the opening is awaited with keen interest. John Glibert and Renee Adoree are featured. Popular prices will prevail.

Jannings Has Big Role in "Quo Vadis"

"When Emil Jannings is right, there isn't a greater screen artist in the world."

The compliment came from George Gerhardt, the New York Evening World's photoplay critic, and it was well deserved. The beauty of it is that Jannings is practically always "right."

In the gigantic version of "Quo Vadis," which will be presented at the Park theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, Jannings is declared to have eclipsed himself.

"Prince of Headwaiters" Ercellent Drama at Lyceum

One of the outstanding dramas of the season, "The Prince of Headwaiters," with Lewis Stone, Priscilla Bonner, Lilyan Tashman, Ann Rork, Robert Agnew and E. J. Ratcliffe heading a remarkable cast, is the feature photoplay now at the Lyceum.

"Mike" Notables From All Fields

If fame could be weighed, "Mike," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, now showing at the Lyceum theatre would weigh a ton. The stage, the screen, comedy, tragedy, in fact all the representative types of art have been contributed to the casting of "Mike."

Sally O'Neil and Wm. Haines have the featured roles.

LAD DOES NOT REGRET THAT HE KILLED HIS FATHER

Woodstock, Ill., Oct. 24.—(U.P.)—William Schumacher, 28, does not regret he killed his father, Christopher Schumacher, he said in the county jail here. He believes he did the right thing and that he rid his mother, brothers and sisters of a "brute."

William shot his father through the head from behind with a shot gun. In his confessions, he detailed brutal acts he said his father committed against Mrs. Schumacher and the children.

Miss Jessie Marlowe, whom Schumacher was to have married this winter, declared she would stand by her fiance, even though he had committed a murder. She said people of this county know William and knew his father and that they won't want to see William punished."
